

November 05, 2025: On Continuing Harassment after 900pm Tonight

Continuing to publicly document the harassment that I receive from the Donald Trump campaign for President using the technology of Elon Musk.

Now, while taking out our pets for their evening bathroom time, I am experiencing vehicles that come driving by the house as I call my pets to me in the yard, and

A car horn honking immediately behind my home, which was immediately followed by police sirens in the near vicinity.

These are the ongoing spying techniques and threats that I receive because why? Well, you'll have to ask Donald Trump what possesses him to continue doing what he does.

I am convinced that he and his team are sadists.

I firmly believe that Donald Trump and the team that surrounds him are the people of the world that believe in either enduring pain or causing pain as their only forms of emotions.

From what I am experiencing over the last four years, I am confident in explaining that the people that are conducting this operation are experiencing very serious mental illnesses that cause them to seek to cause pain in others.

I am very confidently describing that people within the United States military are helping to facilitate an operation that constantly causes pain, discomfort, agitation, and threat to people that Donald Trump deems to be detrimental to his thin-skinned and tiny-minded ego.

This is the United States as the United States portrays itself to me.

Republicans, this was your last chance to gain my support.

George Herbert Walker Bush,
George Walker Bush, and
Now, this . . .

I will never be supporting the Republican Party ever again.

This has truly been the eye-opening experience that shows exactly who runs the Republican Party of government, why they are constantly failing to achieve the results that they promise to the People, and why they continue to pull America into unjustifiable wars.

I have seen enough.

Seriously, I have been watching politics for a very long time now.

Republicans are washed out and done. I honestly do not see them continuing to exist as a party - at all. Period. I am predicting that this will be the end of the party altogether.
